This 45-acre Schuyler County, Illinois tract has a great mix of timber, tillable, and open pasture. The open pasture lays out nicely for food plots and establishing bedding areas. 9 Tillable acres are open for the 2025 farming year. The farm has great access from the East, west, and south sides of the farm, all just 3 ½ miles from Rushville, Illinois. There is a nice pond-building site as well as a great home or cabin-building site with rural water and electricity available and a hard surface road on the West side. The east fork of Crane Creek runs along the east side of the farm, providing a good bedding and water source.
