PROPERTY SUMMARY

Every deer in the area ends up funneling to this fantastic hunting property at some point in the season. It has years of proven success with big deer and fantastic turkey hunting. It has been for sale this year along with the neighboring property, but is now available as a standalone property. This piece has awesome elevation and is loaded with wildlife habitat, consisting of mature hardwoods, creek bottoms brushy bedding areas, multiple food plots, and ample water sources. The ponds will also load up with ducks and geese at times. A rare bonus is that every open area you see on the aerial map has been planted with oak and pecan trees that will only make the property better and better in the years to come as these trees continue to grow and provide more cover. This of course excludes the two food plots, which are prepped and will be drilled to wheat within the next week. Call me. Proven hunting history + affordable acreage size = listings that don't last very long.
